National Restaurant Association Guidance – Operational Questions, Actionable Items & Resources-

Restaurants and other foodservice companies with fewer than 500 employees qualify for relief being offered to small businesses due to the impact of the coronavirus crisis. The Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act authorizes up to $349 billion in assistance through loans, grants and other programs, including:

- Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loans to cover payroll costs, mortgage interest costs, rent, and utilities. The loan's covered period is February 15 to June 30, 2020.
- SBA Loan Forgiveness Program equal to the amount spent by the borrower during an eight-week period after loan origination date on payroll costs, interest payment on any mortgage, rent on any lease, and utility payment prior to February 15, 2020
- Economic Injury Disaster Loan grants to provide an "immediate" advance of up to $10,000 of working capital to businesses that have applied for Economic Injury Disaster Loans in response to coronavirus (not available to cover coronavirus costs if you opt for PPP)

- These programs will be administered through the Small Business Administration (SBA), but restaurants don't have to be current SBA clients to qualify. Talk to the bank you normally do business with. You'll be able to apply and get approval for these loans more quickly through your own bank.
